Performance - how are we doing?

Chairman,
Dorset Police Authority
Martin Baker
Chief Constable,
Dorset Police

Crime is the lowest it has been for 13 years.

We are answering phone calls faster and better.

Car accidents are still a serious problem. We support the “No excuse” campaign to make Dorset’s roads safer.

There is much less money to pay for the Police this year. We are making hard decisions about how to save money. But, we are still getting better, and as a result, most people in Dorset say that they feel safe.

Things we will be working on:

Serious and violent crime

Anti-social behaviour

Organised Crime

Preventing terrorism

Road safety

Make sure that people in Dorset trust the Police

Our Money

We have been asked to save £18 million over the next 4 years.

We usually spend about £120 million.

We are working hard to spend less money. We will still aim to reduce crime and make people safer.

Listening to your ideas

We have listened to what people in Dorset have to say about crime and the Police. Here are some of the things that have happened as a result:

- We have reduced the number of crimes that happen.
- We have reduced anti-social behaviour.
- More criminals are going to court.
- There are 39 more Police officers on duty each day.
- We have reduced the number of people killed and hurt on the roads.
